

MOLINE GANG IS HALTED BY CUBS

Islanders Stop Plow City Winning Streak and Shove Them Into Second Place.

WICH AGAIN PROTESTS

Cross Country Team Is Beaten Two Out of Three but Contests Are Barred.

TWIN CITY LEAGUE.

Cross Country	11	1	.917

Cubs	8	4	.667

Reliables	0	12	.000

The aspiring Moline bowling aggregation ran up against a snag last night, and failed to make a league record for straight victories, due to the contrary notwithstanding. The Plow City pin artists, by reason of nine successive and contiguous wins had about decided that the race was over and were prepared to play out the remainder of the schedule merely as a matter of formality. They already had the pennant nailed to the flag staff and could hear the brass band playing. But it was not to be.

The devotees of the snuff box suffered an appreciable relapse and the Cubs did the rest, nicely gamming the yards by rapping the temporary leaders three straight. To say that the Molineers were peeved would be putting it mildly. They were so badly put out that several members were breathing through their respective noses in raucous wheezes and there was a marked jump in the temperature of atmospheric sections immediately adjoining.

At the St. Julian alleys the Churchill Co's took two out of three from the Stock Leaders.

The regular excitement, however, was furnished up in Moline, where the Cross Country aggregation crossed bats with the Reliables. Frank Wich, Cross Country pilot, is rapidly becoming one of our best little protesters. Up until last night his gang had dropped but one game this season. Last night the Reliables took a life-sized fall out of the Wichmen, grabbing two out of three. Frank, as was the case last week, protested the games, and the protest held. Wooten, it is alleged, was ineligible to play, and for this reason the C. C. forces get credit for three straight wins, thereby jumping into first place. You've got to hand it to Frank. He is some protester. The tabulated results follow:

AT THE ILLINOIS.
A young millionaire globe trotter returning home to find his bachelor quarters occupied by a burglar, who, not satisfied with having appropriated the millionaire's name and getting himself engaged to a pretty society girl on the strength of it, is rapidly disposing of a fine collection of paintings gathered by the aforesaid millionaire from the art centers of the world.

This is the situation when the curtain goes up on the first act of "Officer 666," the new farce which will be presented at the Illinois tonight. How the real millionaire regains possession of his home and name, and how he eventually wins the hand and heart of the sweet young thing who has plighted her troth to a member of the light fingered gentry under the impression that he is a simon-pure scion of wealth and social position, is left to the telling of the players who people the cast of the new farce, which is a big and popular laughing success. In working out the story of the play, the rich young man induces a policeman on his block to lend him his uniform, and while he is masquerading as a "cop" to catch the burglar, the real officer becomes the millionaire's cook.

The burglar, in the meantime, is allowed to continue in possession of the bachelor's quarters, but is eventually trapped and compelled to return his plunder. All these events are worked out with speed and precision during the three acts in which Augustin MacHugh, the author of "Officer 666," takes to tell the story that is said to be chock full of surprising situations, smart chatter and snappy epigrams.

At the Illinois tomorrow, matinee and night, H. H. Frazee will present for the first time here Eugene Walter's latest and most famous play, "Fine Feathers," than which no drama in recent years has created a more profound impression among theatre-goers of the biggest cities in this country. "Fine Feathers" is described as a drama of today. It is said to deal with problems that confront the average American household, and is peopled with characters familiar to every man and woman who goes to the theatre. Dealing with the increased cost and higher standard of living, and their effect on the American home, it also searches human life in a relentless, searching way with its lights and shadows, its humor and its serious aspects. Touching upon the tentacles of the "big interests," "Fine Feathers" shows how they reach into the American family and affect the man's method of industrial attack. There is an absence of hero, heroine and villain. The play deals with ordinary human beings, who are not involved in a love story in the ordinary sense of the word, yet display the truest affection of all—the love of a husband and wife—that has to fight selfishness and vanity as well as the romantic ambitions which come into all lives. Mr. Walter has based his play on modern conditions in the home, and in the world of business; he has endeavored to show the double standards of morals existing in modern commerce, which condone sharp practice in the office that would not be tolerated in the drawing room.

A wholesome, sensible, straightforward play savoring of common sense

Our great anniversary sale last week and the first few days business of this week so far, indicate the wonderful response from the public when this store really sets out to accomplish some special thing. This time our ambition is a large one—we want to sell $100,000.00 worth of merchandise for cash. Can we do it? We MUST!

Unusual large purchases have been made for the fall and winter season and these goods are coming pouring in on us and must be paid for and other obligations made earlier must be met. These are reasons why your dollars will go farthest here at this time.

Beginning Saturday A. and clean motives is "That Printer of Udell's," the dramatization of Harold Bell Wright's novel, by Mr. Wright and Elsbeth W. Reynolds, that comes to the Illinois Sunday. Richard Falkner, an orphan of obscure parentage and a printer by trade, thrown out of employment by a strike, comes starving and work seeking into a thriving western city. In his quest for employment, he meets the persons who "wear religion as a cloak instead of an armor," but is befriended by a so-called unbeliever, George Udell. Falkner proceeds to win the esteem and confidence of the best people and falls in love with Amy Goodrich, a society belle, whose religious inclinations are sadly thwarted by home environment. As Falkner rises, Amy falls, but the manly young fellow succeeds in raising her out of the dust to the highest plane of well being. A splendid philanthropic scheme forms the nucleus of the plot. The incidents and characters are natural and seem to be taken from every day life and while the nobler instincts of young manhood and womanhood are appealed to, there is nothing of the offensive "goody goodness" which blunts the aim of many an otherwise excellent play.

AT THE EMPIRE.

Silver Cross circle of King's Daughters shared the receipts at the Empire last night, Manager E. T. Dolly finding it necessary to stage two performances in order to accommodate ticket holders.

Miss Zira, with a cage of eight leopards, a thrilling exhibition, is the headliner on the new bill for the last half of the week. The animals are put through their paces by their mistress while she remains in the enclosure with them. She exercises wonderful control over the beasts, the jungle effect being made realistic with the aid of electric illumination. The act is a beautiful one rarely to be witnessed in vaudeville. Other acts on the new bill are Lightning Weston, programmed as "the world's" most rapid artist, a picture of the ill-fated Titanic being his finest piece of work; Wood and Larson, who manipulate the piano artistically; George Rosener & Co., in a comedy sketch and Ed Gray, monologist.

The attendance in the other classes also increased, several foreign
